MESSAGE

FROM THE PRIME MINISTER

Prayut Chan-o-cha
Prime Minister of the Kingdom of Thailand

In the past year, the Thai export sector has proven to be one of the most resilient in the global economy. Even during the COVID-19 pandemic, Thailand's export sector was able to respond to unprecedented challenges and successfully adapt to new social norms and business practices, leading to record levels of growth during a time of unpredictable disruptions to the global supply chain.

In this regard, the Prime Minister's Export Award this year not only recognises the highest achievements in standards and growth, but also a new direction for many proficient businesses in a post-COVID-19 global economy. This is particularly significant as this year also marks the 30th anniversary of the Prime Minister's Export Award, thus highlighting the prominent role of the Thai export sector in the country's economic development and the Royal Thai Government's unwavering support for a sector that has included the country's most innovative, dynamic, and socially responsible entrepreneurs.

I am very pleased that the awards recipients this year have showcased the vast potential of Thai businesses who have excelled in innovation, environmental sustainability, and technological prowess, and have thus inspired and positively influenced other Thai entrepreneurs and companies to become more resilient and progressive in the 21st century global economy. As a country blessed with abundant natural resources and human capital, Thailand's export sector will continue to have a leading role in maintaining the prosperity of Thai citizens and international investors, while also ensuring the viability of Thailand's precious resources for future generations amidst the global challenges of sustainable development and climate change.

On this occasion, I would like to convey my congratulations to all the recipients for their outstanding achievements and for propelling Thailand's export sector to be a highly regarded and trusted performer in global trade and commerce. I would also like to thank the Ministry of Commerce through the Department of International Trade Promotion, for supporting and hosting another successful event and for continuing to promote excellence through the Prime Minister's Export Award.

FROM THE MINISTER OF COMMERCE

Jurin Laksanawisit
Deputy Prime Minister and Minister of Commerce

Thailand's export growth reached its greatest level in 11 years in June 2021, owing to the Ministry of Commerce's revised plan for international trade promotion. By implementing appropriate measures to aid Thailand's economic recovery in the aftermath of the greatest coronavirus outbreak on record. The strategy is divided into two components: the development of entrepreneurial potential and the promotion of Thai products and services on the global stage. This action plan has been demonstrated to be effective. This may be seen in the continued acceleration of export growth, which remains greater than predicted. This phenomenon does not occur just as a result of the global economy's recovery. This is largely due to the strategic policies in place and the coordinated efforts of all stakeholders.

To begin, the Ministry of Commerce's proactive and diligent work through the development of the ministry's official mechanism of the Joint Public and Private Sector Committee is one of the elements contributing to the rapid rise of exports. The committee's sessions produce concrete outcomes in the form of immediate actions and future plans to address current and foreseeable problems, respectively. Second, government personnel in the Ministry of Commerce must operate in Thailand's best interests by becoming facilitators rather than merely regulators. As provincial sales teams in 76 provinces around Thailand collaborate with national sales teams in 58 Thai Trade Centers worldwide, my "Salesmanship" policy facilitates the export of products and services. Local products and services are then offered to the appropriate markets using the "market-led" strategy. Thirdly, it is our objective to sustain our export markets in established areas, expand into new locations, and re-establish lost ones. Fourthly, COVID-19 has inexorably accelerated the pace of digital transformation across all industries. Without a doubt, international trade is a continuously evolving business. A technologically savvy generation will be the most potent force for economic prosperity. As a result, arming younger generations, such as Gen Z, with real-world insights and techniques will result in long-term beneficial growth for the economy, since they will be able to use them both domestically and globally.

Finally, I would like to congratulate all export entrepreneurs who have been recognized with this award and express my gratitude for their commitment to developing high-quality products that are worldwide appreciated. I sincerely believe that the Prime Minister's Export Award would play a critical role in propelling product and service development and further strengthening the Thai economy.

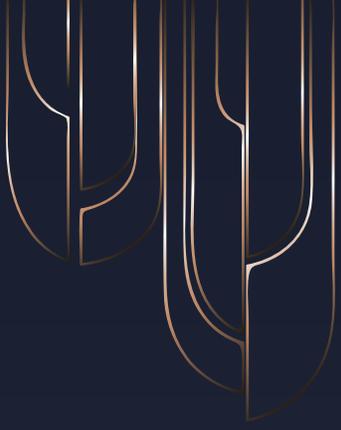

MESSAGE FROM THE PRIME MINISTER

Sinit Lertkrai
Deputy Minister of Commerce

Since the outbreak of COVID-19 in the previous year, the Ministry of Commerce has adjusted its plan on export promotion in accordance with the policy of H.E. Mr. Jurin Laksanawisit, Ministry of Commerce, to turn this crisis into opportunity by incorporating digital technology to the responsible tasks, including marketing channel promotion, entrepreneur development, product development, and information services. As a result, in 2021 Thai exports have grown at a higher rate than expected. The Prime Minister's Export Award will serve as an opportunity to highlight and support the export entrepreneurs who develop their products, and their services to achieve outstanding quality, concretely evident and worthy of the honor of this prestigious award.

On this occasion, I would like to congratulate all export entrepreneurs who strive to improve their products and services and become the recipient of this prestigious award. It is truly a great pride and honor in contributing to enhance a good reputation for the country. I sincerely hope that our country's economy will continue to expand and grow from strength to strength alongside Thai export entrepreneurs and wish all involved parties a great and sustainable success from this project in the future.

Back to 1999, a boy got up and prepared to go to school. While he was taking shower, he noticed a green soap bar that his mother bought for using in the family. A few thoughts that popped up in his mind at that time were 1. The whole family including his parents, sister, grandmother and himself used the same soap, showing that the target group of this soap was very broad and covered all genders and ages. 2. Soap was an exhaustible product and consumers needed to buy it repeatedly. and 3. His mother's soap in the bathroom was not advertised, meaning that if the soap was good, it would create word of mouth by itself. Due to these ideas, he decided to learn how to make soaps seriously. He turned his bedroom into a small soap laboratory. He began to do research from reading the books, talking to the experts, searching in the internet and doing experiments by mixing different herbs into his soaps. He continued doing it for over a year before getting the best soap for his mother who gave him the inspiration. She used the soap and was very impressed with it. This was the story making Chatchai decide to start Phutawan business. After Chatchai was certain about his herbal soap's quality, he started to think about branding. Initially, he had many names in his mind but none of them satisfied him. Until one day he traveled to Mae Hongson Province in the north of Thailand, he rode the motorcycle along the mountain and saw the golden ray of sunlight rising above the mountains. Such picturesque view in the morning empowered him with a good energy to start a new day and impressed him dearly. Therefore, he decided to name his brand by combining two words: "Phu(khao)" (mountains) and "Tawan" (the sun). As mountains signifies a stability and the sun signifies the great power of the nature, the meaning of "Phutawan" is the great power from the nature that stabilizes life and soul.

Aiming to be the world rice leader, the company has been achieving such vision through its successful rice business model as the classic full integration strategy (from farming to value added product). "Royal Umbrella" rice is the product of a company whose quality is improved and sold in more than 100 countries around the world under the same standard and the same brand. Product quality, state-of-the-art technology as well as the production facilities with the total volume of 1.5 million tons of rice per year, along with strong marketing & sales network worldwide, intensive & extensive brand building of "Royal Umbrella" prepacked rice including other foodstuffs are our key success factors. This product can be traceable in all processes resulting in the high quality, sustainability following to the international standards. As a result of our achievements, we received a lot of awards such as the award of Reader's Digest Singapore Trusted Brand Award in 2004-2021. In Thailand, we received Export Logistics Model Award 2013 and Prime Minister's Export Award (Best Exporter & Best Thai Brand) from Department of Export Promotion, Ministry of Commerce in 1995, 2005, 2011, 2016 and 2021. Apart from the mentioned achievements, what we believe most is "the intention to help Thai farmers to have better lives, have stable and good future". This is the challenging mission which we must achieve eventually as the phrase of "Rice is Life"

Qaly is a 100% Thai designed product brand who believes in the power of designing that can enhance the better life and the better world. Our philosophy is to respect our planet and in the meantime, improve people's life. That makes us work harder to design every products to be Creative and useful for every mankind, bring Happiness to every smiles and dedicated ourselves to be more Sustainable and eco-friendlier design brand.

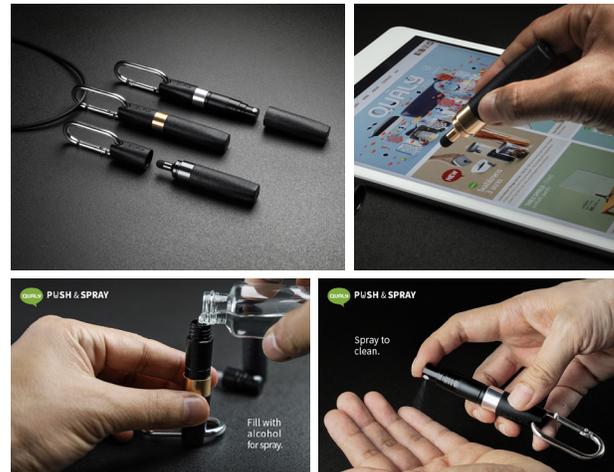

Vision:

Environmental issues affect all life on earth and not just human life - we believe that these issues transcend any social, economic, or political problem on Earth. After all, if the ecosystem collapses, human life and economy will be negatively affected from shortages in natural resources and adverse changes in climate. No earth - no us.

Initially focusing on creating happiness through creativity, with sustainability as a means to an end, we are refocusing our brand direction. From now on, sustainability is our core focus, with happiness being a long-term result of making the world a better place.

Our manifesto relies on the concepts of eco-design and circular economy:

1. Our product design will factor into account each product's life cycle, from manufacture, to transportation, to the product's end of life. It will be a priority to use resources in a responsible manner, with a lower consumption of energy, and with the creation of less pollution.

2. Where appropriate, recycled materials will be used in order to reduce the dependence on new resources.
3. Each product will be designed to be recyclable at the end of its life.
4. We endeavor to collaborate with organizations that support sustainable practices.

While we believe we are in the midst of an environmental crisis, we are optimistic about making a change for the sake of our Earth - it's not too late if we all make a change together. As the saying goes, "the best time to plant a tree was twenty years ago - the second best time is now".

Satin Textiles Co., Ltd. was founded in 1986 as a manufacturer of home decorating textiles. We started from a small factory in Phrapradaeng district, Bangkok, with two second-handed weaving machines and less than 50 workers. With different visions from other providers, the company decided to invest in a design team and IT department, both of which have since become extremely valuable to our operation. In two years, we were able to export our products and produced many newly designed fabrics for both local and international buyers. Due to difficulty in quality control, we decided to expand our production lines to be able to produce fabrics entirely on our own. We had moved the factory to Ratchaburi province in 1995. Since we have 100% control over quality, our company was capable of creating fabrics with new innovations and designs which were demanded from customers from all over Europe, USA, UK, Japan, Australia and many more places.

In 2002, we have launched the product under "PASAYA". Back in 2018, the company "Wealthy Moggie Innovation" started off from three cat-lover friends who realized that more than 90% of cat litter product in Thailand are imported from other countries. They are strongly inspired to develop cat litter to substitute imported cat litters and to export it to other countries. One of the three co-founders is a researcher with an expertise and experience in developing high-value products from agricultural resources; he explored different kinds of agricultural resources and found that cassava has a high potential to be a raw material for cat litter. After 2 years of research and development, the technology for production of cat litter from Thai cassava was successfully established. With the intention to introduce this high-quality cat litter to the market as well as to further develop Thai cassava into other products, the company "Wealthy Moggie Innovation Co. This collection is inspired by one of Thailand's most significant fabrics, Kaoma. Kaoma is a multipurpose textile that has been a huge part of Thai's way of life for centuries. The graphics on our handwoven fabrics are derived from Kaoma's original aesthetics, which are bold, and colourful checkered images. We have decided to use PET recycled yarns as the protagonist throughout the collection as it embodies sustainability concept in modern day fashion, whilst fitting into the philosophy of Circular Economy. Pleated structure is another detail that we have incorporated across the pieces to add our own twist into the outfits. Nowadays in the capital, Kaoma fabrics are mostly visible on construction workers, which is a group of people that can best visualise the multifunctional aspects of this fabric. Doitung is deeply aware of this matter and has created outfits that are inspired by the workwear of Thailand's working class.

Huai marks the first professional typeface release by Potch Auacherdkul and represents the culmination of research into the duality of influences between handwritten, vernacular Thai lettering and Latin typefaces. The result is a warm, expressive typeface that doesn't abandon the human hands and the language that produced them. With Thai script, there are two different terminal styles the Loop terminal style, associated with the original forms of Thai glyphs; and the Loopless, which has evolved to best coordinate with Latin sans serif typefaces. In recent years, this Thai Loopless style has continued to influence and even change to become 'more Latin.' One would go so far as to define these heavily Latin-influenced typefaces as Thai Latinized. This curiosity with shifting influences, turns the idea around and explores what would happen if the vernacular Thai scripts actually influenced their Latin counterparts instead

DEPARTMENT OF ARCHITECTURE

Sala Bang Pa-In is a resort situated in a rural landscape of Ayutthaya, Thailand, surrounded by the river on two sides. The design is a contemporary re-interpretation of the local rural landscape and intends to connect people to the life of the river and its atmosphere. The buildings are scaled down to be in grain with the surrounding local houses. The roofline of the clusters is corresponding to those of the surrounding villages. The materiality connects to the local materials and craftsmanship. Yet the architecture is contemporary in its life and spatiality. The project offers a new possibility of architecture in an age of digital media where visual images might have dominated over other senses. It proposes an alternative position for a contemplative architecture nested within the fabric of the local culture and environment with harmony. It prioritizes the experience of the connection to the context with multiple senses not less than the visual experience of the place.

MAYUKINUKO-The professional of silk beauty. The organic cosmetic and silk cocoon products are made from five species of silk cocoons. Product development at J.T. SILK dates back to the silkworm mating in 1905. From this origin, it has passed from one generation to the next.

MAYUKINUKO is the miracle of silk protein and illustrates the value of using natural ingredients for cosmetics. Silk cocoons contain Sericin, a protein created by silkworms in the production of silk. Sericin comprises 18 different amino acids needed by the skin, making it a remarkable natural human moisturizer for use in makeup. Sericin can effectively control the growth of melanin in the skin to help prevent dehydration. Sericin is anti-ageing, anti-wrinkle, anti-oxidation, has moisture absorbing and desorbing properties, protecting against UV radiation, and promotes skin elasticity.

We carefully selected raw material silk cocoons for more than 10 years while running the business under the brand MAYUKINUKO to produce health and beauty products, including facial, body, and hair care. Every step in our manufacturing is organic.

Our products are sold across Thailand and exported to foreign countries in Asia and Europe, including Japan. Our service includes both raw materials for OEM (Original Equipment Manufacturer) and finished products under the brand MAYUKINUKO.
